

Hotel Inspector's Report Avalon Guest House, Vicarage Road Sidmouth

Visit Summary 23 July 2007

There is much to commend Avalon, not least of which being the obvious commitment to customer care and high standards of presentation throughout. Bedrooms all offer good levels of comfort, with maintenance being a strength and no significant concerns noted. Similar comments apply equally to bathrooms with all mandatory requirements in place.

Given the importance placed upon cleanliness, it was reassuring to find such exacting housekeeping with close attention to detail and no lapses of any consequence.

Public areas all reflect a unified standard of presentation which all creates a very positive overall impression, likewise the frontage and gardens provide a very favourable impact. The parking and gardens are further bonuses here and no doubt much appreciated by guests.
